Originally published in German, 'Limit' is Frank Schätzing's mammoth near-future thriller, translated into English in an equally unwieldy massive volume and then, thankfully, published by Jo Fletcher Books in a 2 volume edition. Even so, part 1 is 705 pages long which, I don't know about you, but I find to be uncomfortably large to read with ease. You just can't hold it easily in one hand while drinking a cup of tea.

Frank Schätzing writes yet another well researched and founded novel. The reader gets the feeling that he binge watches a well written 2 season series with fast changing scenes. The plot on the earth, especially in Shanghai is faster paced and more suspenseful than the one developing on the moon.

Tweet. Limit by Frank Schätzing. Jo Fletcher Books, h/b, 1152pp, £17.67. Reviewed by Martin Willoughby. At 1149 pages, it's a book so heavy it's classed as a weapon of mass destruction by the United Nations, but what a good read it is. Admittedly the first 200 pages obsess over the lives, and sexual proclivities, of the rich and famous tourists going to the moon and takes some stamina to get through, but after that, it doesn't feel like a long book.
